John and Eunice Patten in a musical sketch, Hassler in his balancing act, the Brothers Zella in acrobatic evolutions, Berry and Hughes in a musical melange, Marcus Doyle in songs and dances, St. Clair Sisters in their cake walk, Mazier and Connelly in a knockout skit, Leonzo in jugglery feats, were among the strong people on the bill. Their work was neatly done. A fine band and orchestra are connected with the troupe.

Florenz Zeigteld, Jr., who has been manager for Anna Held for some time, admitted Saturday that he and Miss Held were married two years ago in Paris. She will play in "Papa's Wife," a musical comedy this season.

The play "Ben Hur," will be a magnificent scenic production. The play will be divided into six acts and seventeen scenes. The cost of producing the chariot race will be $15,000. One hundred and ten horses were tried before eight suitable animals could be secured for the race scene. The electrical appliance to produce the star of Bethlehem cost $2,200.

Two men and two women talked and laughed so much during the performance of "More Than a Queen," in New York Thursday night, that Miss Arthur had the curtain rung down, and came to the front of the stage and publicly asked them to leave the theatre. The audience applanded Miss Arthur for it, and the play then proceeded. The offenders

Dispatches From South Africa Tend to Show That the British Are Holding Ably.

CONFIDENCE IN GEN. WHITE'S ABILITY.

There Are Signs of Greatly Increased Boer Activity in Natal and on the Western Frontier.

The Boers' Bombardment of Ladysmith Has Been to Some Extent Effective-The British Have Plenty of Lyddite Ammunition.

LONDON, Nov. 13. - Monday morning's news from the seat of war in South Africa continues fairly satisfactory. The official cables are not very detailed with regard to the Belmont incident which, except for the loss of Col. Keith-Falconer, was not a very serious affair.

There are signs of greatly increased Boer activity in Natal and along the western frontier. All the dispatches tend to show that the British are holding ably. Col. Baden-Powell reports that all was well at Mafeking on November 6. Ladysmith's latest date is November 9. While nothing averse is heard from the latter point, and confidence is felt in Gen. White's ability, previous experience having shown that the Boer artillery is not very effective, it is beginning to prove that the acquisition of artillery which has destroyed the former mobility of the Boer forces, has also failed to give them any compensating advantage. On the contrary the reverse is the case. It is held here that, if the Boers had not been hampered by the transport of heavy guns and their rescue from tight has 84,399 over McLean, dem., and in places, Gen. Joubert might ere this, have been in Pietermaritzburg. Un-Boer heavy artillery the itself by reducing Ladysmith it will again hamper him in the eventual retreat from Natal when Gen. Buller sends the relieving force. It is believed that the Boer retreat will be made over the Drakensburg range into the Zoutpansberg district, where every preparation for provisioning and maintaining the Boers is said to have been made for the last stand, and where it will be difficult to dislodge them. Already it is rumored that they are in straits for food around Ladysmith, and may, therefore, be obliged to abandon the siege. Dispatches from Estcourt say it has been ascertained that the British have laid concrete beds for firing the lyddite naval guns showing that there is no foundation for the fear that the lyddite ammunition at Ladysmith has been exhausted. It is also reported from the same quarter that some fires have been seen in Ladysmith, indicating that the Boer bombardment has been to some extent effective. special dispatch from Cape Town confirms the earlier report that it was Gen. Buller who ordered the British evacuation of Stormberg and Naauwpoort as he considered the frontier line too weak and too much extended. It is understood, however, that Naauwpoort will be occupied again as soon as the advance from Queenstown is ordered. Strong bids are being made by the Boers for the support of cess, although it is believed that the in this city. Upon being asked as to before joining the Boers. From Stormforces are working slowly toward will leave in a day or two for Wash-Dordrecht with a view of attacking ington. Queenstown and cutting off the towns in the northern districts of Cape Colony. The wounded are recovering in a remarkable manner. The Mauser wounds are small and heal rapidly. Many of the wounded apply for permission to return to the front.

The fact that the latest two official dispatches were received from Gen. Sir Forestier Walker, and not from Gen. Buller, seems to indicate that the latter may have already left Cape Town. A Brussels telegram asserts that he has actually reached Durban. This is certainly premature, but he may have started.

An unofficial statement is published | 253. that the troop ship Gascon, soon after her arrival at Cape Town, left for Durban and Delagoa bay.

Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—The statisticians at the republican headquarters have been busy all day Wednesday and Wednesday night endeavoring to secure some accurate figure on the plurality of Judge Nash, the republican candidate for governor, and Wednesday night an unofficial table of pluralities by counties was completed. The Unofficial Footings of the Return Show That the Republican Plurality For Treasurer Is 106,215.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Complete figures from every county in the state, nearly all of them unofficial footings of the returns, show that the plurality of Barrett, republican candidate for state treasurer, over Creasy, democrat, Total vote, 784,226, a slight increase over the vote for state treasurer in 1897, and 185,941 less than the vote for governor last year. TARLAC TAKEN.

Col. Bell's Regiment and Small Force of Cavalry Met No Opposition.

Gen. Lawton's Headquarters is Still at Cabanatun-The Whereabouts of Gen-Young, With Cavalry and Infantry, Not Known.

MANILA, Nov. 13 .- Col. Bell's regiment and a small force of cavalry entered Tarlac Saturday night without opposition. Where Aguinaldo, with his army and the so-called government have fled, is a mystery.

Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Lawton closed in on Tarlac. Communication with distant points is impossible, except by means of the government wire, which is crowded with official business. Gen. MacArthur took Bamban Saturday. This is supposed to be the strongest position held by the Filipinos except Tarlac.

The brief accounts of the engagement received indicate that the rebels fought according to their recent tactics, retreating after firing a few volleys. One officer of the 36th regiment is the only American reported killed. Gen. MacArthur began his advice at forbid. daylight, Col. Smith with the 17th regiment on the right, Maj. Hali's command and the 36th on the left and the 9th in the center.

Col. Smith encountered a small force the rebels. Maj. Bell secured a position on the mountain from which he poured an enfillading fire from rifles and Hotchkiss guns upon the first line of the enemy's trenches. The Filipinos stood the fire for 20 minutes and then retreated to the mountains. Gen. MacArthur entered Bamaban at 10 o'clock Saturday and Col. Smith occupied Capas the first town beyond. Gen. Lawton's headquarters is still at Cabanatun. Gen. Young, with his cavalry and infantry, is still pushing ahead through the fearful mud, but his exact whereabouts is not known. When Col. Bell left Capas, ten miles from Tarlac, at 1 o'clock Saturday he intended merely to reconnoiter. He had with him the 36th infantry, Slaven's scouts, troop E, of the 4th cavalry, a battalion of the 22d regiment and Gatling guns.

KENTUCKY VOTE.

Both Sides Still Claim the Election and a Contest Will Follow.

Goebel Gives No Figures but Says He Is Elected Governor By 155 Plurality-The Republican Chairman Claims Taylor's Election By 3,111.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 13.—The second week of uncertainty regarding the result of the balloting for governor of Kentucky begins with little prospect of immediate relief. The official count has been in progress two days and official returns from a large majority of the 119 counties have narrowed the contest down to a nose finish. Each side claims the election of its ticket, but the estimated plurality of either does not exceed 3,000. While the returns so far received favor Taylor, the result of the count may hinge on the decision given by the county election commissioners in several places where contests have been begun on the ground of alleged irregularities.

One of these contests, that in Nelson county, has been decided adversely to the republicans. It involves if humanity and self-interest did not 1,198 votes—nearly as many as either side claims as its plurality. Democrats will contest the votes of some of the mountain counties, which return large republican pluralities.

The most important county involved is Knox, which gave Taylor 1,398 plurprecincts in Louisville, which went

In any event it is difficult to see how a bitter contest before the legislature and the courts can be avoided. All the contests now being considered by the county election officers will have to be argued before the state board of election commissioners which must meet at Frankfort within a month. all the legal talent at their command. Meanwhile everything hangs on the official count which may consume a large portion of the week. In Jefferson county (Louisville) the work is especially slow. Only one ward has been completed in the two days work.

The Commercial Monday morning prints a statement from Chairman George V. Lange, of the republican state campaign committee, claiming a plurality of 3,111 for Taylor.

The Courier-Journal Monday prints a statement from Mr. Goebel, at Frankfort, declaring there is no doubt of his election, but gives no figures, the announcement being made that no returns have been received Sunday night when Goebel's plurality was figured at 155.

A statute authorizing associations or unions of workingmen to adopt labels or devices to distinguish the products of their labor is held constitutional in Perkins ve Heert (N. Y.), 43 L. R. A. 858.

The Turks preserve yellow pond lilies and make a cooling drink from them. In Egypt flowers are pounded and boiled in sugar. The resulting wine is of a green hue. In old Rome they made a wine of violets, and to-day in Turkey sherbet is made from these lovely blossoms.

Did you ever eat nasturtium salad? In Europe they make salads from primroses, too, and marigolds are used for soups.

Candied violets have always had a large sale. In France all the stale violets are sold to confectioners, who steam them, dip in boiled sugar and sell them at a high price. That is why sometimes when one eats candied violets they have a woody taste-they are not fresh. The butter tree of India blooms in the hottest weather and is the chief food of some tribes. One tree will yield several hundred pounds of the yellow, pulpy flowers. When fresh they have a delicious flavor and when dried they look like raisins. They are boiled, made into cakes or sweetmeats. All wild animals are very fond of them.

NEW TROOPS UNDER FIRE.

A Portion of Them in a liattle at San Fabian and Do Splendid Work-Army and Navy to-Operated.

MANILA, Nov. 11.-The landing of the American troops at San Fabian Tuesday was the most spectacular affair of its kind since Gen. Shafter's disembarkation at Daiquiri. The cooperation of the troops and the navy was complete. The gunboats maintained a terrific bombardment for over an hour while the troops rushed waist deep through the surf, under a heavy, but badly aimed, rifle fire from the insurgent trenches, and charged right and left, pouring volley after volley at the fleeing rebels. Forty Filipinos were captured, mostly non-commissioned officers. Several insurgent dead and five wounded were found in a building which had suffered considerably from the bombardment.

The town was well fortified. The sand dunes were riveted with bamboo 20 feet thick, which afforded a fine cover.

When the transports arrived in the gulf they found the gunboats Princeton, Bennington and others waiting. After consultation with Gen. Wheaton Commander Knox, of the Princeton, and Commander Sheridan, of the Bennington, anchored on the shallow two miles off shore. The gunboats formed a line inside, the Hetena, Callao and Manila close inshore. With the first gun of the bombardment the small boats were filled rapidly without confusion by Maj. Cronite's battalion of the 23d infantry and Capt. Buck's battalion of the 13th infantry.

While the lines of boats moved shoreward, the gunboats poured the full force of their batteries into the trenches, soon forcing the insurgents to flee through the burrows dug back of the trenches. About 200 men held their places until the keels of the boats grated on the shore when their Mauser bullets commenced to sing overhead.

The battalions formed in good order. Capt. Buck, with Pierce's and Patton's companies, pursued the insurgents on the left into the bamboo thickets. On the right was a frail foot bridge across the river leading to the towns. Gen. Wheaton, personally commanding, ordered a charge across the bridge, and Capt. Howland, of his staff, led Coleman's and Elliott's companies of the 13th and Shield's company the 23d, behaved who splendidly under their first fire, into the town, which was found to be nearly deserted, except by the aged and some Spaniards who had hidden in the buffalo wallows and who came shouting delightfully toward the Americans.

Capt. Chenowith and Lieuts. Davis, Vanhorne and Bradford, with two companies of the 17th regiment, reconnoitering northeast of Mabalacal, attacked and routed a battalion of insurgents, killing 29 of them. Three Americans were wounded.

ALBERT BECKER HANGED.

The Chicago Wife Murderer Protests His Innocence to the Last-His Case Similar to Ado ph Luetgert's.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.-Albert August Becker, the German butcher, who on January 27 last murdered his wife, Rachel, and afterwards chopped up and boiled the remains in order to dispose of them, was hanged in the countv jail at 12:05 o'clock Friday after-

Becker's neck was not broken by the fall and it was 16 minute, before he was pronoun el dead.

On the scaffold Becker protested his innocence, and declared George Sutterlin, the father of his second wife, was the real murderer.

The case in many ways bore a remarkable similarity to that of Adolph Luetgert. Both of the condemned men were butchers, and the motive for the crime was the same in both instances, the desire to get rid of the wife in order to marry a younger woman. The manner of committing the crimes was also much ing and burning. It was proven at Herald. Becker's trial that after killing his wife he had chopped her body to pieces and boiled the remains on his kitchen stove, afterward burying the remains in various places. As in the case of Luetgert, the rings of the murdered wife played no small part in the testimony leading to the conviction.

ADMIRAL GEORGE DEWEY.

Joseph A. Foley, assistant pastor, Rev. Sidney Hurlbut. The ceremony was strictly private and of the simplest character, and was performed with the ring according to the nuptial rites of the Catholic church, and including the address of Father Mackin, consumed less than five minutes. The arrangements for the wedding were made with all the secrecy which has attended the whole affair, and not a single spectator was

The Chicago Wife Murderer Protests His Innocence to the Last-His Case Similar to Ado ph Luetgert's.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.-Albert August Becker, the German butcher, who on January 27 last murdered his wife, Rachel, and afterwards chopped up and boiled the remains in order to dispose of them, was hanged in the countv jail at 12:05 o'clock Friday after-

Becker's neck was not broken by the fall and it was 16 minute, before he was pronoun el dead.

On the scaffold Becker protested his innocence, and declared George Sutterlin, the father of his second wife, was the real murderer.

The case in many ways bore a remarkable similarity to that of Adolph Luetgert. Both of the condemned men were butchers, and the motive for the crime was the same in both instances, the desire to get rid of the wife in order to marry a vounger woman. The manner of committing the crimes was also much ing and burning. It was proven at Herald. Becker's trial that after killing his wife he had chopped her body to pieces and boiled the remains on his kitchen stove, afterward burying the remains in various places. As in the case of Luetgert, the rings of the murdered wife played no small part in the testimony leading to the conviction.

'Tis but of fleeting years a score, Since father used to call-"My son, 'tis time you got to bed; Come, say good night to all." Ah! how unwelcome were the words, And how they spoiled the fun!

Our game was not half done. But time has flown, and I'm a man, And heavy loads I bear; For wearily the lagging hours

I wasn't tired, why, not a bit!

Drag on, held back by care! Too long, too long, are now the days, And things are different quite; How gladly would I now respond To father's call each night!

Somehow the thought occurs to me That the same rule may hold When I shall find my race is run, And life's bright fires grow cold;

May not the somber messenger, Whose call I now would dread. Come at the last, a welcome friend, To bid me to my bed? -Kansas City Independent.

"Who is this Capt. Coffin?" "Skipper of the Seabird."

"Was that the craft you came out in?" The mate replied in the affirmative, and the unhappy father went on:

"God bless him for his big heart if he does that! Money is no object to me now. I've frozen and sweltered all these years to get gold, and now I'm alone in the world. You haven't told me how my brother died. When was that?"

The mate gave him all the details, ing around him he gazed curiously this time truthfully, for he had heard around his poorly furnished room. them all at Merrivale. When he had finished, Capt. Scott said:

"Did you never hear Tom speak of dow he said in a faint whisper: me? Why did he never write? When I left the ship in your charge I gave you a letter to mail to him, telling him that I was going up in Alaska after gold, and giving him an address in Seattle where he could write, and I would get the letter some time. He never wrote as far as I know, or if he did it was never forwarded to me. For over three years I have been buried where no letters could reach me, and now I was on my way to Seattle and then for home. It's an awful blow, Rider!"

The mate was silent, and the stricken man continued: "What did the owners say when you turned over the vessel and accounts?" The other's face was ashy pale, but he made a great effort, and replied:

"O, it was all right." · "Accounts were all straight?" Rider's agitation was so great that the other must have noticed it but for he was about to try to speak again.

"All straight, cap'n."

Tom's father was silent a moment, and Obed Rider's thoughts were anything but pleasant. His brain was in a whirl, and he feared that any moment his tongue might betray him to the man he had wronged so deeply. He was at his wit's end for the best course to pursue, when suddenly his companion settled the matter at once by exclaim-

The return voyage went well for two days, then the steamer broke down and it was nearly a week before she was weeks before Capt. Scott reached San Francisco and was driven to the dock where the Seabird still lay.

Old Capt. Coffin was on deck and Tom's father accosted him at once: "Is this Capt. Seth Coffin?"

"That's my name."

Tom would have made another effort, but he felt an overpowering sense of drowsiness, and a moment later he was forced to yield. His head fell back and he dropped into a restful slumber.

When he again awoke the second mate was dozing in his chair. Tom's head was clear now and he felt stronger. As he watched the sleeping man the events of the fateful night began to come back to him, and, as he remembered his loss, he could not help muttering an exclamation of despair.

"See here!"

The second officer pointed as he spoke to a narrow crack in the partition which separated it from Tom's room. It needed but a glance to show that it had been recently enlarged.

"That's what did the business," he continued, "and he's off for that gold mine. He's got a big start, and what's to prevent his passing himself off as Mr. Tom Scott on those people?" "He couldn't do that!" exclaimed

"Why not? Was there any description of you in the paper the old man gave you? How are they to know?" "But I've got a statement in my pocket from Capt. Coffin, telling who we are, and all about it!" insisted Tom. "What good is that when the mate is on the spot, perhaps, with his documents, and how can you make anyone believe you are the right chap? Look here, Scott, there's only one thing to do. We've got to go after that son of a sea cook, and take the law in our own hands. Something will turn up to help us out. After all, I don't know but that there is something in what you say. All he could tell about Avery was what he saw on board the vessel. He never talked any with him, and don't know anything about his family or business. Now, I dare say the old chap told you a good many things about himself, didn't "Yes," replied Tom, eagerly, "he told me all about his family, and I can soon convince anyone that the mate is lying if he claims to be me. I've got the captain's statement, you know, sworn to before a justice of the peace, and all witnessed. The mate will have a hard time to get round that." "Mebbe so," was the doubtful reply, going, and I don't believe papers will be of much account there. We're two to one, anyhow, and if we overhaul the rascal we shall find some way to get square with him." "The sooner we start the better, then," decided Tom. "Come on, let's be off, and see about it at once." It did not take the two friends long to make their simple preparations. The money remaining in the captain's safe was equally divided between them and worn in belts. Tickets to Seattle were procured, and the following day, after a hearty farewell to the big-hearted skipper, the two young men started on their adventurous trip.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. TAKEN AT HIS WORD.

The Purchasers Complained of a Lack of One of the Elements in the Oil.

The faculty of terse and forceful speech is ordinarily an advantage, but occasionally a man gets hoisted by his own epigram. A hustling young New Yorker who was recently established in a branch of the oil business, had set out to get the patronage of a certain firm. The head of the concern was reluctant to make a change.

"The oil we have been getting is not unsatisfactory," said he, 'and I fail to see why we should make a change. Are there any extra inducements you can offer? How you stir up an occasional alligator and you stir up an occasional alligator and inducements you can offer? and he became a customer. man was obliged to make a journey, and in his absence, through some oversight, the quality of oil was allowed to deteriorate It was quickly noted, and a letter now on file in the office records one of the protests. It reads: "Gentlemen: When we were induced to use your product we were assured that Mr. Blank put some of his brains into every barrel of oil. We deeply regret to observe that Mr. Blank is threatened with paresis."—Washington Star.

Jason Crow, Oscarville, Ga., Says:

"I feel it my duty to write and let you know what your medicine, '5 Drops,' has done for me. I have had rheumatism about taken down and not able to move about. About six weeks ago I saw your advertisement and wrote for a sample bottle. After friends and in every case it has done wonders and given perfect satisfaction. HERE are women everywhere who suffer almost constantly because they cannot bring themselves to tell all about their ills to a physician.

Such women can surely explain their symptoms and their suffering by letter to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for the confidence reposed in her has never been violated. Over a million women have been helped by her advice and medicine. Mrs. Pinkham in attending to her vast correspondence is assisted by women only. If you are ill, don't delay. Her reply will cost you nothing and it will be a practical help as it was to MISS ELLA E.

BRENKER, East Rochester, Ohio, who says: "I shrunk from the ordeal of examination by our physician, yet I knew I must have treatment. My troubles were backache, nervous tired feeling, painful menstruation and leucorrhœa. I am so grateful to you now that I am willing to have my name published to help other girls to take their troubles to you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound used as you wrote me has made me entirely well and very happy. I shall bless you as long as I live."

Mrs. Pinkham receives thousands of such letters from grateful women.

MISS NELLIE RUSSELL, of 138 Grace St., Pittsburg, Pa. in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham says: "From child-hood I suffered from kidney trouble and as I grew older my troubles increased having intense pain running from my waist to my womb and the menses were very painful. One day, seeing your advertisement in one of our papers, I wrote to you. "When your reply came I began taking your Compound and followed your advice and am now in perfect health, and would advise any lady rich or poor to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I can praise above all other remedies. It is a wonderful help to women."

Mother's Friend

is not a chance remedy. Its good effects are readily experienced by all expectant mothers who use it. Years ago it passed the experimental stage. While it always shortens labor and lessens the pains of delivery, it is also of the greatest benefit during the earlier months of pregnancy. Morning sickness and nervousness are readily overcome, and the liniment relaxes the strained muscles, permitting them to expand without causing distress. Mother's Friend gives great recuperative power to the mother, and her recovery is sure and rapid. Danger from rising and so lled breasts is done away with completely.
